Honolulu is a wonderful place to live, play and do business. Like most large cities, however, Honolulu also faces several tough challenges, including balancing the city's budget, reducing traffic congestion, and replacing aging public infrastructure. To sustain our quality of life, and provide the efficient and responsive city services our citizens deserve, Honolulu needs honest leadership, creative ideas, and real solutions!

As your current Councilmember, I have fought to bring fiscal responsibility, efficient operations, and a community voice to the Honolulu City Council. But more, much more, can still be accomplished.

With my background in city planning and experience in city government, I am confident that I can continue to work with Mayor Hannemann, my colleagues on the Council, and most importantly with community residents, to resolve day-to-day neighborhood concerns while also formulating real solutions to the long-range and island-wide issues that affect all of Oahu.

With a more efficient, effective and responsive city government as my goal, I respectfully ask for your support and your vote in the upcoming election.

Mahalo,
